CineCoup CRITIC'S PICK!

Director's Note: "When I say Science Fiction, people think Luke Skywalker. When I say Adventure, people think Indiana Jones. I realised there is no horror hero -- in a years time when I say horror... I want people to think Mr. Tom." -- Michael Laicini (multiple award winning short filmmaker)

Synopsis:

Dealing with demonic possession, tentacled monsters and a basement full of demons is all in a day's work for contract exorcists Eli Dante and Mr. Tom, a man who has the supernatural ability to extract demons from the possessed and take them into himself.

But dealing with demons comes easy for Mr. Tom, its ordinary people that haunt him. Due to a peculiar abnormality Mr. Tom is unkindly referred to as the 'faceless man' and vilified by the people in his town. He has resigned himself to an outcast's life, forever deprived of the simplest pleasures most people take for granted -especially the affection from the person he loves -a woman named Shadow.

As a series of horrific events unfold around town, animosity and aggression towards the misunderstood Mr. Tom reaches an all time high. And if that wasn't enough, things further worsen when the 'Otherside' sends a dark messenger to destroy Mr. Tom, free a legion of trapped demons in his basement and open up a portal to hell!

Through a deliciously evil scheme, the dark messenger kidnaps Shadow's 4-year old child and takes him to the 'Otherside', forcing Tom to journey to hell to save him... literally!

When he arrives he is faced with a very unexpected choice; to save the very people who have tormented him his entire life or give into the devil's temptation to make him 'normal'... and give him a face.
