LOGLINE

The gritty leader of a stationary biker gang risks his life to stop his arch nemesis from taking his turf and destroying what he loves most.

SYNOPSIS

Catfish is the leader of 'Static Fury', a stationary biker gang that runs the only gym in town. When rival exercise gang 'The Apocalipticals' threaten to take over Static Fury's territory, Catfish challenges them to a winner-take-all cardio clash. Having recently discovered that his heart isn't what it used to be, the intense competition could cost Catfish his life.

Catfish's old lady, Katherine, fears he is making a fatal mistake and, horrifyingly, his gym patron's are starting to hang up their bike shorts for elliptical shorts. Catfish must rediscover his roots and stretch more than his hamstrings to stake his claim and prove he has the heart to defend what's closest to it.
